Problem Statement

Coming up with a fun game to play with a group of friends can be challenging. This is especially true when trying to find one that's simple, requires no materials, and is familiar to everyone. Our goal is to provide users with easy access to the nostalgic and engaging literature-based game that's fun to play anytime, anywhere.

Solutions

Using this Mad Lit Website, users can enjoy the nostalgic literature game anytime. They can play at parties, while traveling, or from virtually anywhere. There's no need to buy or carry around a physical game. It is now digitized for easy and convenient access.

USER RESEARCH

COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS

The Word Finder

Strengths:

- Has a “Add New Story” option.
- Story cards has hover feedback
- Story cards are all the same size. Cemetery.

Weakness:

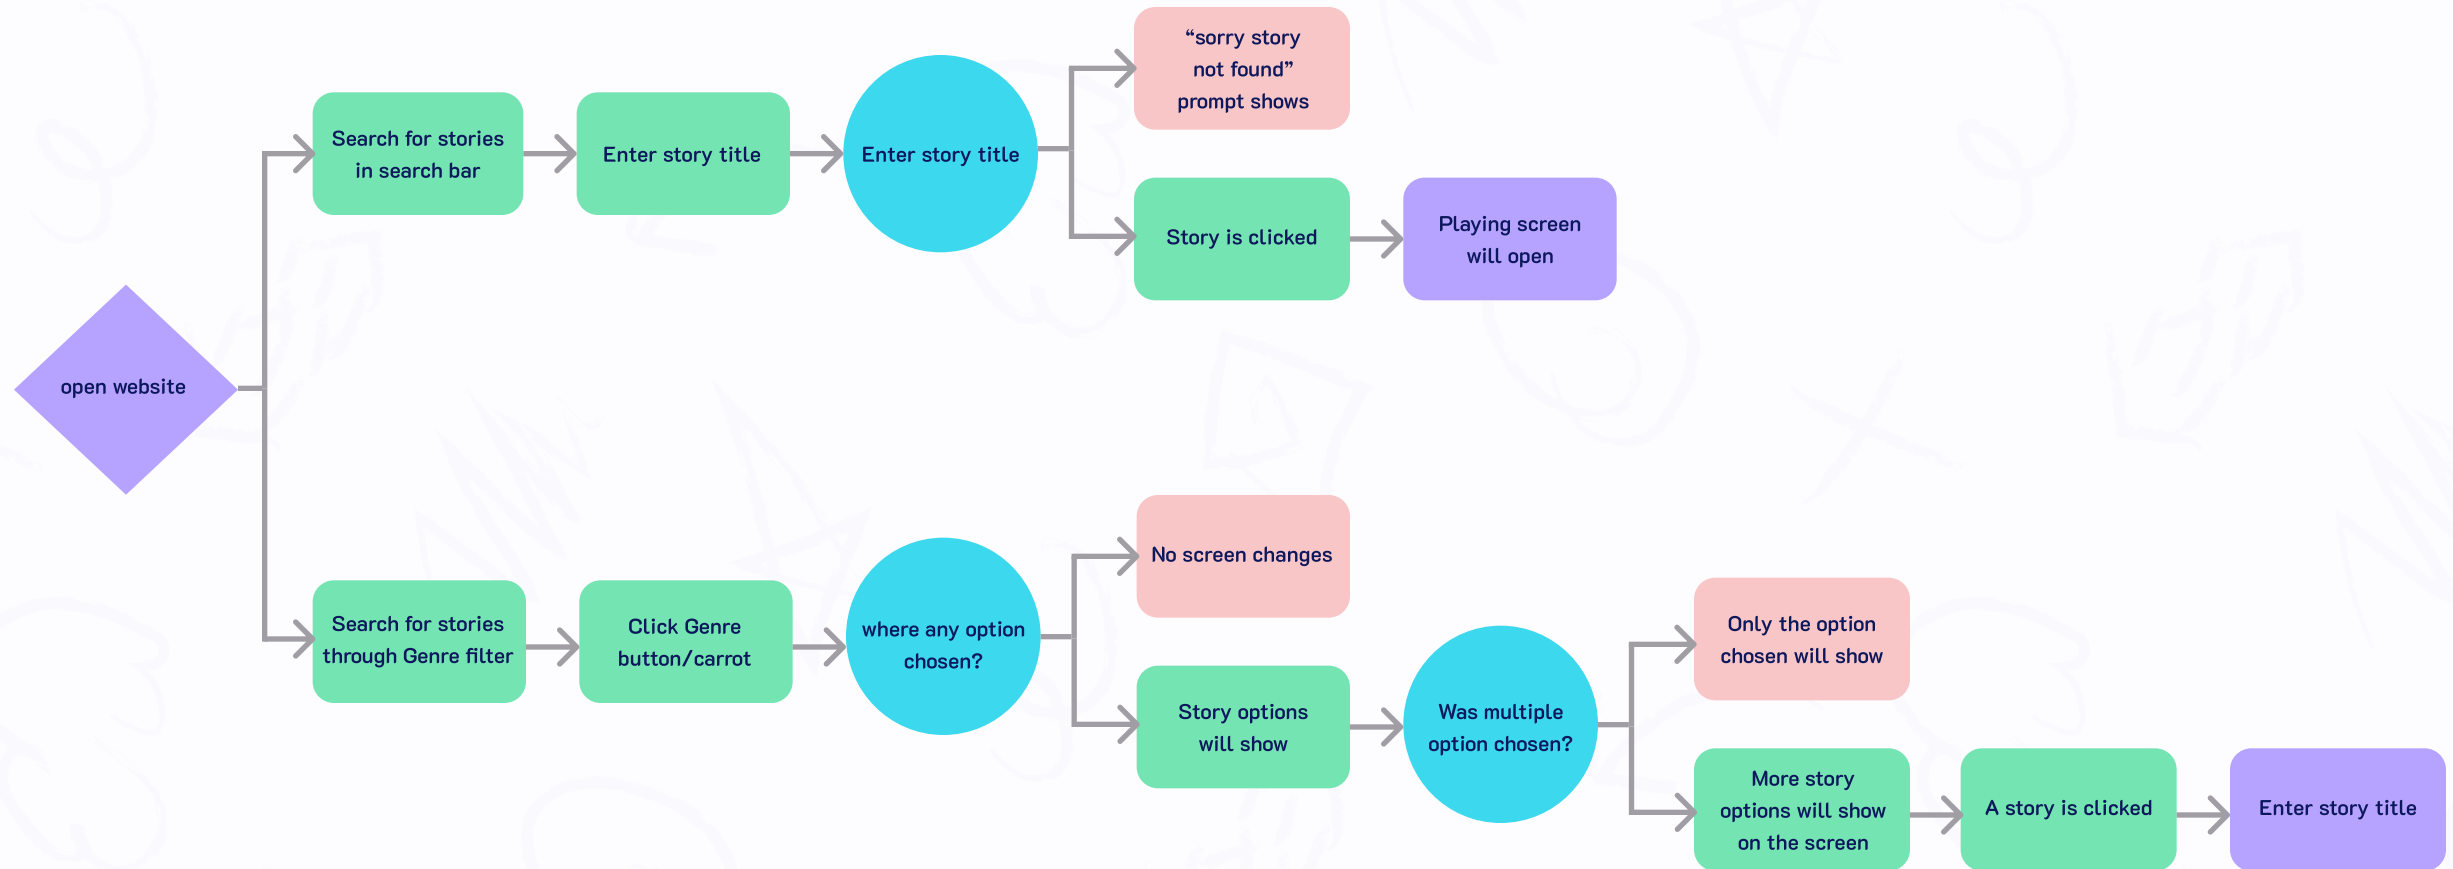

- Fewer Category options
- looks too busy on mobile
- A lot of scrolling
- Colors are randomized
- “Main Stories” turns into “User Stories” on different screens.

What MadLit Offers:

- Responsive for Both desktop and mobile
- Dark mode for Eye comfort and accessibility.
- Simple Layout
- Story colors are associated with different Genres.

At this stage, light User testing was performed. Proper user testing was scheduled to be done later in the website's development.

MID - FIDELITY DESKTOP

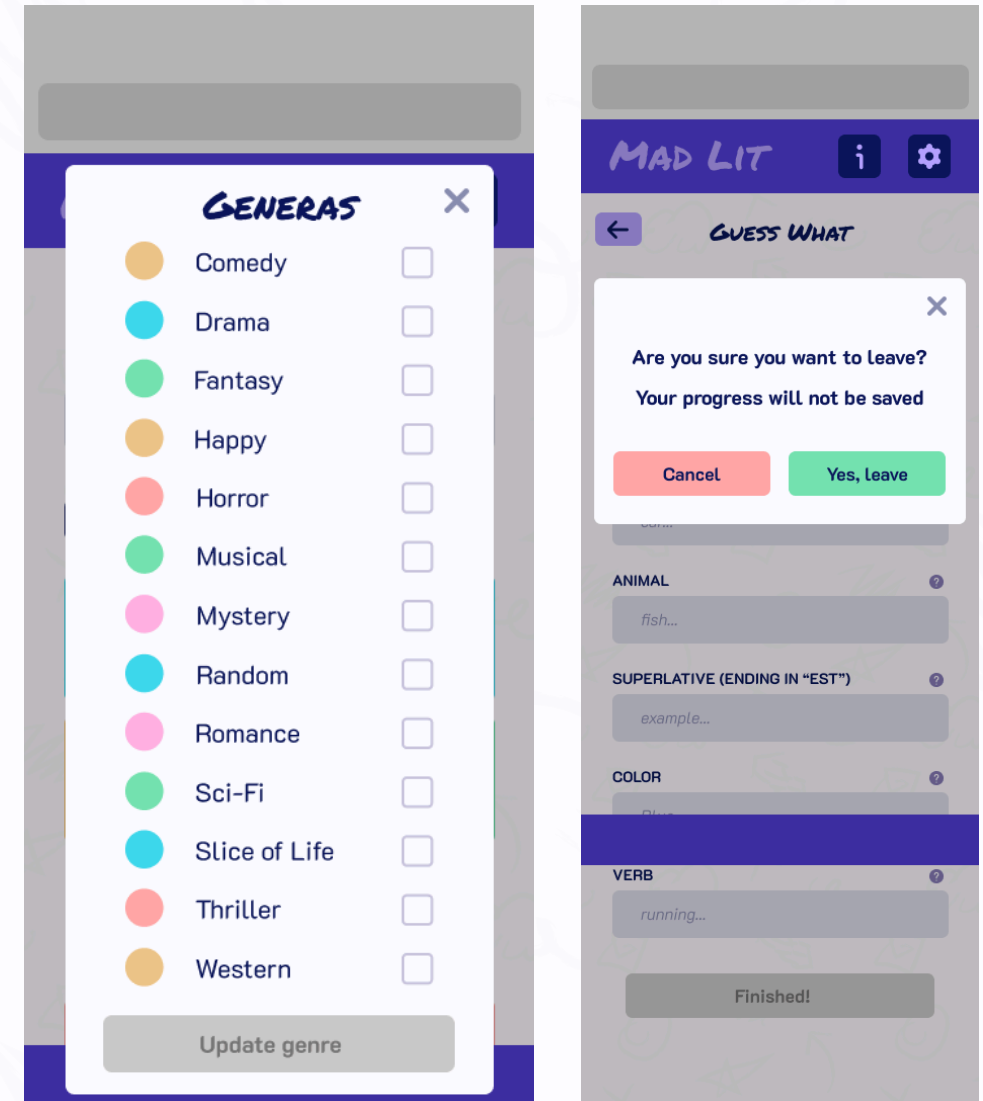

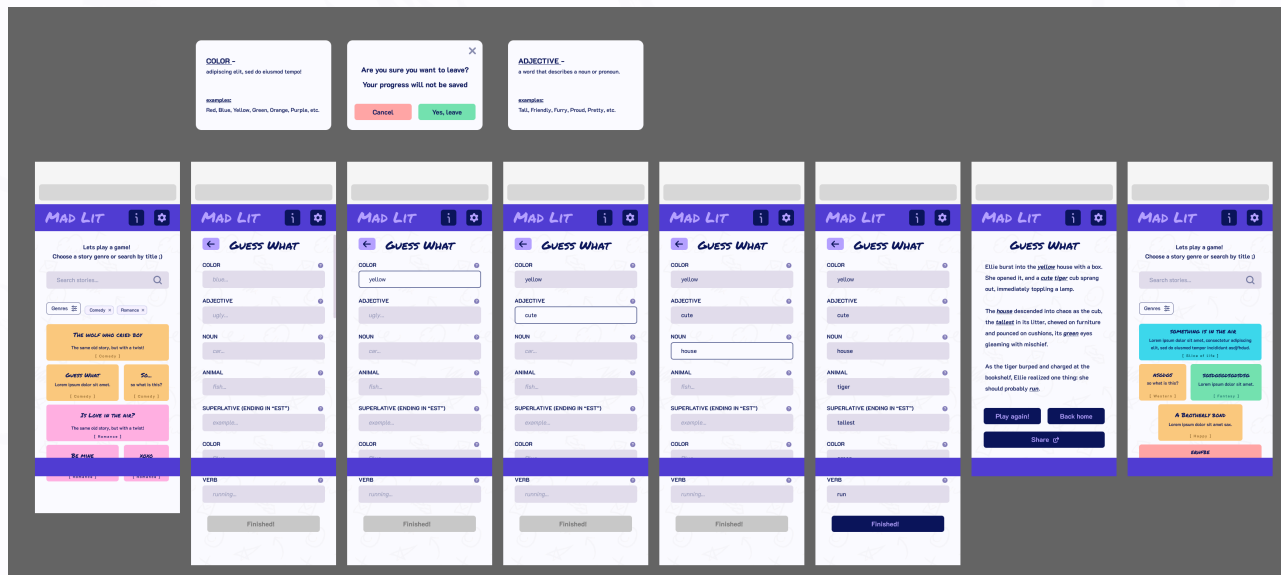

The background is a solid blue color. It is decorated with a repeating pattern of faint, hand-drawn geometric shapes in a lighter blue shade. These shapes include circles, squares, triangles, stars, and zig-zag lines, all rendered in a sketchy, informal style.

CONCLUSION

REVISIONS

With the developer's feedback, the following revisions were implemented:

- Progress pop-up
- Full screen Genre filter overlay
- Bigger story cards with genre labeled

SUMMARY

This phase established a strong foundation for organizing, strategizing, and implementing key website features, particularly filtering. Moving forward, I plan to design with future feature scalability in mind, improve overall flow and usability, and further refine the dark mode and visual graphics.
